Dear Participants,

Welcome to Thailand again! Thank you for confirming your participation at the upcoming two meetings on The Regional Meeting on Indicators for Fisheries Refugia Management and Discussion on Project Follow-up and The Technical Consultative Meeting on Drafting of the Regional Action Plan for Management of Transboundary Species Indo-Pacific Mackerel in the Gulf of Thailand Sub-region. Please read the following information carefully, as it will help you to plan your travel to Pattaya City.

1. Meeting Venue

The both events will be held at Chonburi Province, Thailand. The Regional Meeting on Indicators for Fisheries Refugia Management and Discussion on Project Follow-up will be held on 9th -11th September 2019 at A-One Star Hotel, Pattaya City, Chonburi Province, Thailand.

Address: 115/11 Moo 9 North Pattaya Beach Road,
Nong Prue, Banglamung, Chonburi 20150
Phone: +66 (38) 259 555 (24 hrs)
Fax: +66 (38) 424 242
Email: starinfo@a-onehotel.com
Website: <http://www.a-onestarhotel.com>

Location Map: The hotel is located at Pattaya City on the eastern coast of the country in the area of Chonburi province. Only 147 km or 1.5 hr away by car from Bangkok. It lies parallel to Sukhumvit Road on its east and the coastline on its west. Pattaya is the closest of Thailand's major beach resorts to the capital city.

For the past centuries, Pattaya was a small fishing village almost cut off from the outside world. But a big change occurred on 29 April 1961 when the first group of about 100 American servicemen who would join the Vietnam War arrived in Pattaya for relaxation. Soon, the sleepy Pattaya became Thailand's premier and most successful beach resort which annually attracts hundreds of thousands of pleasure-seeking visitors. Fishermen's huts along the beach were replaced by a full range of accommodations from super deluxe hotels to bungalows and mini-pocket guesthouses. Fishing vessels were adapted to become tourist boats. And the quiet powdery golden beaches are frequented by swimmers and sunbathers from various parts of the world. Places of nighttime entertainment have also sprung up and are popular among international tourists.<sup>1</sup>

Website: <http://www.baybeachresortpattaya.com>

Location Map: The Bay Beach Resort Jomtien hotel is 5- stars beachfront hotel located on a quiet part of Jomtien Beach, it is about 3 km south of Pattaya. Jomtien has become very popular and highly recommended to those who seek a quieter resort as it is also quieter and more relaxing than Pattaya Beach. The former paddy fields have turned into a thriving beach, Jomtien also has experienced a construction boom in the past several years, with many new condominiums and housing developments built in the area and includes a large group of shophouses, restaurants, bars and stores. The 6 km long, largely straight beach is popular for windsurfers and water sports enthusiasts including several annual sponsored sports events, such as a Jet Ski World Cup, and festivals, attracting visitors from around the world.

❖ Transportation of Pattaya

Pattaya is a buzzing city of Thailand and known for its energetic night scene, there's much more to Pattaya than just nightlife and beaches. Most of Pattaya Beach's hotels, clubs, bars and shops are condensed into an area that spans little more than a few kilometers, so it's perfectly possible to get around entirely on foot. However, the transport facilities here are so regular, public transportation options are limited with mainly "Song-Thaews" and a few local buses, but there's enough to discover the city's highlights.

Songthaew:

Also known locally as Baht Buses, songthaews are the main form of transportation in Pattaya. They are pickup trucks that have been re-purposed for transporting people, with two benches in the back and space for standing (if you're brave!) at the end. Cheap and efficient, even if sometimes crowded, songthaews operate on fixed routes around the city. They travel along Beach Road, near Walking Street, along Pattaya 2 Road, around Jomtien, and to Naklua. The fare depends on the distance, but you should expect to pay anywhere between 10 and 50 Thai baht. You pay the driver when you get off. Do be sure to have small notes and coins to pay with as the driver's supply of change will likely be minimal. It's easy to stop a songthaew – simply extend your arm and wave or otherwise signal that you want to jump on. People get on and off all along the route, but if it doesn't seem to stop near where you want to disembark, press the buzzer and the vehicle will pull over. You can also negotiate the price for a private taxi-like service with an empty songthaew; this is especially common at nighttime.

Local tip: Check the price before boarding an empty vehicle as drivers may assume that you want to charter the songthaew privately, making for a more expensive trip. Try to flag down vehicles that already have passengers aboard to avoid any misunderstandings.

Taxis:

Although Pattaya doesn't have many local metered taxis you'll still spot a fair number of private-hire vehicles around the city. These are mainly taxis that have brought passengers from Bangkok and are seeking a return fare. To kill time, they may take on short journeys around Pattaya. It is rare for drivers to agree to use the meter in such a case, and you should negotiate a reasonable price for your journey before accepting a ride. Taxis taken from along Second Road should generally use the meter, though, as these are local taxis. There are many private taxi companies in Pattaya that can be great for a day's sightseeing or long-distance private transfer. Fares should be negotiated if a standard rate isn't available for a particular destination. Most hotels and guest houses can order a private taxi with minimum notice. Grab Car also available in Pattaya but there're still conflict with local taxi on stealing the taxi customers issue.

Local tip: Unless visiting a large and well-known attraction or destination, try and show the taxi driver the exact address, written in Thai, to avoid potential confusion.

Motorbike taxis:

Motorbike taxis seem to be everywhere in Pattaya. They are quick and convenient, and they can be especially cost-effective for solo travelers. Drivers wear bright vests and tend to congregate in small groups on junctions and close to major place of interest. Agree the price before starting your trip, keep your feet up and knees in, hold on to the bar behind you, and always wear a helmet.

Local tip: If you're in a busy area but can't see a motorbike taxi or the drivers are some distance away, simply clap your hands two times; as if like magic, a motorbike taxi will likely soon appear!

4. Language

The Meeting will be conducted in English and all the Meeting documents will be mainly in English. For the outside, the official language of Pattaya is Thai and it is widely spoken throughout Thailand. As Pattaya is a famous tourist destination, most people can speak and understand English, especially those in the service industry. The English spoken by the locals might be broken or a mixture of the two languages. But it won't be too difficult to comprehend. Other languages frequently heard on the streets of Pattaya are Burmese, Chinese, Lao, Japanese, German, French, Swedish, and several variations and dialects of these.

Most restaurants and stores have signs and other information written in both English and Thai, sometimes with pictorial depictions that you can point to. If you are not familiar with the language, ask someone to write out the name in Thai characters, so that you can show it to the taxi driver or someone when asking for directions.

Some useful words and phrases in Thai:

Hello – Sawadee (khrup/kha)

How are you? – Sa bai dee mai (khrup/kha)

Goodbye! – La gorn (khrup/kha)

Yes – Chai (khrup/kha)

No – Mai (khrup/kha)

Thank you – khop khun (khrup/kha)

Sorry/excuse me – Khor thoad (khrup/kha)

I Don't Understand – Mai Khao Jai (khrup/kha)

Where is the restroom – Hong nam yoo tee nai (khrup/kha)?

Never mind- Mai pen rai

Not Spicy – Mai phet

Really Spicy – Phet mak

Delicious- Aroy

That's expensive! – Paeng mak (khrup/kha)!

How much does this cost? – Ra ka tao rai (khrup/kha)?

Can you give me a discount please? – Ga ru na lot ra ka hai noi (khrup/kha)?

(one to ten) – Neung, Song, Saam, See, Haa, Hook, Jet, Paat, Gaow, Sip

The Tip: If you are male, you end sentences with the word “khrup” similarly if you are female, you end your sentences with the word “kha”. This is used to make your sentence or question polite and respectful.

5. Mobile phones

There are three large operators of Thai telecommunication company sell SIM cards with pre-charged airtime. Participants can purchase their own local SIM cards from these recognized mobile operators upon arrival at Suvarnabhumi airport in Bangkok. There you can compare prices and promotions or visit each website in following (click on the logo):

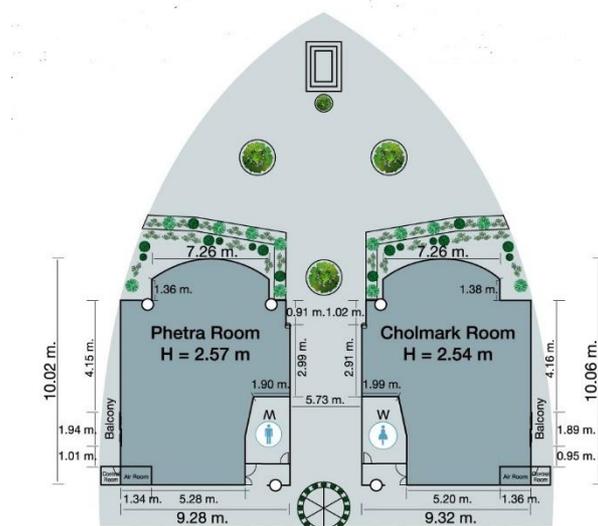

Before you purchase any SIM card, make sure that the network you are choosing is compatible with your devices. Most old networks mainly on 2G are about to decommissioned soon. These frequencies are used for 3G and 4G/LTE. Thailand has started mandatory SIM card registration and now you need to provide your ID or passport at the points of purchase.

Adding credit or airtime is quite easy in Thailand. A few physical places where you can top-up: 7-Eleven, Family Mart, BigC, Tesco, phone kiosks and the outlets of the operators.

6. Registration

For the first event, the registration desk will be open at 08:30 a.m. in front of the Cholmark Room which is located on 3rd floor of the Royal Cruise building. Please provide your name card and your boarding pass to the Secretariat upon registration.
